A LIGHT FROM HEAVEN.

(Lines suggested at Chapel Service.)

A black November day;
Dark clouds obscured the sky;
The students in the church
Unto their Maker nigh
Wese rising, in their prayer,
And praise to trod on high. The sun had been beneath
The clouds the morning through,
And dim the light shown in
The windows, stained with blue,
Green, yellow, and rich red.
Here where an angel flew,

And there a saint enshrised In colors rich and warm, And there a symbol bright, Of sacred sense and form; All shinning in their frames, Placed there to shield from

The exhortation said,

-And all had knelt in prayer,
And been absolved from sin;
And filled the holy air
With the "Our Father" grand,
When all to chant prepare.

The minister began
The sentance: "Glory be
c God the Father, Son,
And Holy Ghost." And seel
the light bursts o'er the gloom
Through the stained history.

The story of the life
Of the dear Savior child
While in the loving arms
Of the blest Virgin mild;
And shaughter of the babes,
Through Herod's fury wild.

The sun, 'till then concealed By clouds, had ahown out bright, And covered all within With a warm flood of light— The Holy Spirit seemed Thither to wing His flight.

And in the paster grand,
Te Deum, (chanted creed)
And casticles, where'er
The words in sorrow plead,
The light sunk low again,
As is their fitting meed.

But when the words shone out In glory and in prate.
Then abuse out too the sun,
And set the church ablase.
Can such things ever fail
Such though its in ato raise?

Deacon Pitkin and His Wife.

Deacon Pitkin and His Wife.

(From the Christian Union.)

"Putty piece o' property, this 'ero farm," Biah said, surveying the scene around him with the air of a connoisseur.

"None o yer stun pastur land where the sheep can't get their noses down through the rocks without a file to sharpen 'em'! Deacon Pitkin did a putty fair stroke o' business when he awapped off his old place for this 'ere. That ar old place was all awamp land and stone pastur; wasn't good for raisin' nothin' but juniper bushes and bullfrogs. But I teli you," proceeded Biah, with a strewed wink, "thar ar mortgages pinches the deacon, works ceceded Biah, with a shrewed wink, "thar ar mortgages pinches the deacon; works him like a dose of alces and picry; it does. Deacon fairly gets lean on't."

"Why," said Abner Jenks, a stolid plow boy, to whom this stream of remark was addressed; "this "ere place ain't mortgaged in it? Du tell, nabw"

"Why, vis, don't you know that ar? Why there's risin't two thousand dollars due on this "ere farm, and if the deacon don't scratch for it and pay up squar to the minit, old "Squirs hain't no bowels," It leads to be ain't; and I tell you it keeps the deacon dancin' lively as corn on a hot shovel."

"The deacon's a master hand to work," said Abner; "so's the boys,"

"Wal, vis, the deacon is," said Biah, turning contemplatively to the farm the same than the same than the was held at the Presbyterian Church last turning contemplatively to the farm

Wal, yis, the deacon is," said Biah, turning contemplatively to the farm house; "there ain't a crittur in that ar house that there ain't the most work got out of 'em that ken be, down to Jed and Sam, the little uns. They work like tigers, every soul of 'em, from four fitting, J. W., M. L. Johnson; Serlbe, o'clock in the mornin' as long as they can see, and Mis' Pitkin she works all the evening—woman's work ain't never done, they say."

"She's a good woman, Mis' Pitkin is,"

"KNOW THY OPPORTUNITY."

"She's a good woman, Mis' Pitkin is," said Abner, "and she's a smart worker."

It is quite observable that the principal business now-a-days of the Democrata in the Second and First Districts in this State, is to pat the cheeks and dance ats under Democratic auspices "CHRISTMAS is coming and here's Sandy Claws," said John Henry's hopeful, as he held up his dirty hands. And John chuckled a little, and patted his head and smiled to himself like something he has done is turning out well.

DEARSIM—I wrote to you some time since for a bottle of Bernellinger's Fluid Extract of Sarsaparille, and must say that it has acted upon me like a chaim. I have been afflicted for heart wo years with Dyspepaia; two-thirds of the time I vomilited from one to three times a day. I had given up the loss of ever getting well, and loaded my friends again. Added to this, I suffered with Econdar very much. Bince last September one side of my preck was one entire sore. The uses of one bottle has much improved me; my stomach issperently relieved; my peech has improved beyond my mort sanguine expectations. I feel much, encouraged, and think by the use of one or two bottles more I shall be relieved entirely. You will please send as two bottles. I want to give it afair trial. Send by one of the boats.

the Second and First Districts in this State, is to pat the cheeks and dance attendance to the whims of the Democracy of the Third District. Our brethren in that district must be kept in good humor by a system of attiffing. Well, this sort of thing may do well emough for awhile, but we would assure the Third District in a fraternal way that it cannot always last. As grown up children, they need altogether too much coaxing to keep them in the traces. In the language of Crockett, they may be permitted to "rip" for themselves before long.

Whilst saying this much, we will add another piece of advice, although it is not asked nor taken. The Democratis of the Third District, in putting forth their choice for Governor, had best be careful and pick out a man of character, of brains; no thiel, no demagone, no whitewaher of dishonest officials should be brought to the foreground. If our advice is taken, their choice may be elected; otherwise he will be beaten out of his boots, and every honest Democrat in the State will throw up his hat. This may be as well understood now as at any other time. Political raacality and requery can not flourish in this State, even if it is under Democratic anspices.
